Chief's Article

Many wonderful things have been happening around the Haymarket Police Department (HPD) this spring.

The HPD partnered with Caring Senior Service and Park Valley Church to hold its 1st Annual Senior Summit, which was held on April 25th. The model this partnership wanted was to have a day of fellowship, information, and resources for our local seniors. Over 65 professional vendors were on hand to provide resources such as legal, health, estate planning, in-home care, public safety, and real estate. 300+ attendees started their day with a 1-hr educational session in the morning. Information was provided on senior scams along with a welcome message from Lt. Governor Winsome Sears and Town of Haymarket Vice Mayor Tracy Lynn Pater. After the session, attendees were provided a free lunch from Mighty Meals courtesy of Rooted in Haymarket. Following lunch, attendees used the rest of their time to browse resource tables at their leisure.

Chief Sibert said, "Our goal was to give to our seniors and ask them for nothing. At the end of the day, mission accomplished". The event was such a success, planners have already begun pre-planning for next year and have a tentative date planned for April 23, 2025.

The Police Department also took part in our annual end-of-year balloon fight and ice cream social. Swirlies Ice Cream provided

Town History– Hulfish House

The Hulfish House was built in 1873 by George A. Hulfish, one of the most prominent and successful citizens in Haymarket during the post-Civil War years.

George was a retail merchant, served as the first mayor of the Town after it was incorporated in 1882, and was a trustee of the Town Hall and school (now known as the Haymarket Museum) His story is particularly compelling because he was 15 years old and living in Haymarket when the town was burned in 1862.

In fact, it was his father’s house and blacksmith shop that were the first buildings set ablaze by members of the Union patrol. The Hulfish House is a vital part of Haymarket’s historic landscape especially that of the historic “crossroads” of Old Carolina Road (Jefferson Street), and Washington Street.

The structure is currently home to Cupcake Heaven! So stop in and grab a treat while visiting one of our old, historic structures.
